The YMCA of Greater Cincinnati invites all veterans and their families to attend a free Veterans' Fair on Friday, June 13, 2014 at the Clermont Family YMCA, located at 2075 James E. Sauls, Sr. Drive in Batavia. The event, which runs from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m., offers new and longtime veterans a one-stop opportunity to meet with local veterans organizations to learn about benefits and opportunities available to them. From assistance to filing claims to filling out forms to attend college, this is a great opportunity to meet with and ask questions of local veterans groups.

Among those taking part at the Veterans' Fair: Ohio State Representative Doug Green (R-66), the Clermont County Veterans' Services Commission, Army OneSource, Ohio Veterans Home, Easter Seals-Veterans Affairs, Ohio Legal Assistance Foundation, Veterans Upward Bound, American Red Cross, Cincinnati VA Mobile Unit, Southern State University, Health Source, Stein Hospice, University of Cincinnati, and the YMCA of Greater Cincinnati.

The YMCA of Greater Cincinnati recognizes the many sacrifices made by military personnel and their families to ensure our great country is protected. We recognize the importance of combining exercise and social opportunities to create a healthy mind, body, and spirit. The Y offers a wide array of programs and services for all ages in a nonthreatening environment that is welcoming to everyone. In 2013, the YMCA of Greater Cincinnati unveiled a new veteran's membership program that is steadily growing in popularity throughout the area. Call (513) 362-YMCA for more information.

For more information about the free Veterans' Fair, contact Gail Erhardt at the Clermont County Family YMCA at (513) 724-9622 or visit the website www.MyY.org.
